THE SHORTLIST

The test of our progress is not whether we add more to the abundance of those who have much; it is whether we provide enough for those who have too little.

LGIU Scotland and CCLA's annual Cllr Awards are back again for the fourth year. We are delighted to welcome councillors from across the country to celebrate their achievements and honour the important work that they do.

Foreword

Local government supports all of us, each and every day. On every street, in every town, up and down the country, it is the vital work of councillors that keeps things moving. We are immensely proud to, once again, be able to celebrate the hard work and commitment of councillors from across Scotland at these, the fourth annual LGIU and CCLA Cllr Awards.

This past year has reminded each and every one of us of the effort and lengths to which councillors go to support their citizens. As such, we were overwhelmed by the powerful stories and experiences detailed in the unprecedented number of nominations that we received for this year's awards. We often talk about local government in terms of councils and institutions, but the Cllr Awards remind us that these are the real people, making real differences to the lives of their constituents.

As our cities, towns and villages continue to recover from the pandemic, these Awards are a hugely important way to champion what local councillors do for their communities.

The quality of the nominations we received was excellent and competition was very tight. It was extremely tough to decide on the winners, and we are very grateful to our judging panel for their time and expert view, as well as to our founding partners CCLA, without whom these Awards would not be possible.
